Rescue From the
Wraith
Submitted by Sabben:

It was a cold eve. The wind was low and silent. Many a knight
gathered at the CBR tavern this night. It was not to talk or drink however. One of their own had been taken. Tameria. And they were ready to reclaim her. Leading the way was Don Martin, the loved one of Tameria. He let the heroes know that
inside the Tower was a hidden Key to her cell. It was kept in a gold chest. All they need to do to save her
was to find it and open her cell. Oh and did I forget to mention kill
all the Wraith inside?

The Heros Stormed
the tower Battering
down its doors after several minutes of banging on them. Then it was if the ᶜᵉood

gates were let open. The heroes poured into the tower, fighting Wraith at every turn. Many fell on both sides this eve. The Wraith gathered the souls of many that fell this night. Partaking of a small portion of each soul that fell to feed to their dark pourpose. While the heros Killed many a Wraith. the body of both sides were piled high by the end of the night. While the battle waged on into the night other vile things took place. In the distant city of Pax Lair the Skaven were on the move. They used the old tunnels under the city to work there way to the Pax Lair Survival Shop.

Inside the shop sat Gwendelyn Stacy. she was left with the book of truth, the item that started this whole thing, while the heroes went to save Tameria. Gwen heard the Skaven tunneling up through the basement and took ᶜᵉight before they could find her. She ran accross the city to the Newly Opened Casino and Quest Center where she thought she would be safe. Unfortunately for her the Skaven could track her by scent. They found her alone in the casino and another battle took place. She was out numbered and fell after a valiant fight. The book fell into the hands of the Skaven. With the Book of Truth in their clutches they moved back to there tunnels to wait for a meeting with the Wraith later that night.

The sun set that night as Tameria walked free from the Wraith tower. The heros found the key and set her free. They went back to the CBR tavern while the last of the heroes cleaned up the few remaining Wraith. Thus when all was said and done Both sides won a battle... yet I sense that this War is far from over.....
